

THE WHO SHOW ...WAY beyond tribute!

“France DiCarlo is the reincarnation of Keith Moon.” Roger Daltrey, THE WHO

“The finest Who Tribute band in the world.” Martin Lewis, MODS & ROCKERS Festival

For almost a decade, Los Angeles' THE WHO SHOW has been the world's premier THE WHO Tribute Band, an authentic recreation of the early-mid 1970s THE WHO concert experience, from the gear to instruments to costume, with the musical force, intensity and volume of the world's most dangerous and loudest rock band!

THE WHO SHOW performs all THE WHO'S timeless songs, from MY GENERATION to PINBALL WIZARD to WON'T GET FOOLED AGAIN to YOU BETTER YOU BET, as well as the classic rock operas TOMMY and QUADROPHENIA, spanning three decades of classics from this seminal British band.

In 2006 the band was featured as THE WHO in the live stage production debut of QUADROPHENIA. In 2007 THE WHO SHOW shot promo videos with JEFF STEIN, the director of the legendary 1979 THE WHO documentary THE KIDS ARE. In 2008, Los Angeles band members Chris Propper (as Pete Townshend), Joel Pelletier (as John Entwistle) and France DiCarlo (as Keith Moon) were joined by Seattle's Jim Ferguson (as Roger Daltrey), forming the ultimate THE WHO TRIBUTE Supergroup. Their complete live show is available for touring in the United States and throughout the world, including concerts, festivals, clubs, private and corporate events.

All four members of THE WHO SHOW are professional musicians with decades of national and international performing experience, and the band has musical equipment endorsements from major music companies including Premier Drums, Hiwatt amps, Rotosound Strings, EMG Pickups and Hartke Amps.
